

Review – Dream Horse

Good – 24

- A really nice Sunday afternoon film. Well acted and I loved the interaction between the characters. Thanks for organising the meal afterwards.
- An excellent feelgood film, beautifully acted and great fun. A great lift for January.
- An enjoyable film and it was fun spotting Gavin & Stacey cast members! But I wonder why they went for Toni Collette in the starring role? She was excellent as always but surely they could have cast a Welsh actor! A good choice for a Sunday afternoon.
- A feelgood film for a dreary Sunday afternoon and as based on a true story, all the better. We enjoyed Pizza Express too, thank you to all organisers!
- Great movie for a Sunday. Enjoyed it. At the end I was amazed at how closely the actors resembled the real people.

- We enjoyed it. An uplifting story of people being brought together and finding a shared passion in a way they would not have thought possible. Liked the humour and the karaoke at the end with the real Jan, Brian and Howard.
- I thought the film was a good choice for the matinee. The story was a bit predictable, but had good acting and the racing scenes were well filmed.
- I thought it was emotional and heartfelt film. Loved it. Thank you for showing it and organising the meal afterwards.
- Nothing complicated- just a real feel-good film based on the messages that, if you have a dream and are determined enough, you will succeed and also that even the most determined personal vision needs the support of a team to make it a reality. If the plot were fictional, it might be criticised for being too sentimental, simplistic and implausible. Knowing it's based on a true story makes it all the more enjoyable.
- The smiles on faces leaving says it all. A tale of determination, hope and scruples in a month of national gloom.
- I thought the film was excellent and most enjoyable, it had a really feel good factor and was a very pleasant way to spend a dull Sunday afternoon. Thank you for choosing such a happy film – more of them please.
- Great story and characters. It was nice to see the real people with the actors at the end. A couple of things in the film didn't ring true, like when they were going to make a day of it and arrived half way through a race, and that Dream Alliance was always number three! But that is nit picking. It was a feel good film with likeable characters and horses, and pretty amazing as a story!
- Enjoyable uplifting film Good a very appropriate choice, Thank you. Good to follow up at the meal, thanks to all concerned in the planning.
- A feel good film with just that bit of tension with a wonderful group of well-known actors. Just right for a dull, cold January afternoon.
- I really enjoyed the film yesterday afternoon. Very good. A nice feel good film for a January afternoon.
- A wonderful feel-good film. The perfect antidote to a miserable January afternoon, all the more enjoyable for being based on a true story. Filming of racing sequences expertly done and clearly engaged the audience.
- we both really enjoyed the film yesterday. Jonathan has already replied to say that it was very good.
- It was lovely to see a properly feel-good film, especially on a dreary Sunday afternoon. There were some wonderful touches of humour as well as pathos, and the casting and acting were excellent. The fact that it was based on a true story made all the difference and stopped it from becoming over sentimental.
- The right choice for a January Sunday matinee. Light (and quite lightweight too). Often predictable, and had it not been based on a true story, I would have dismissed it as trite. Some good performances though, and the film had the feel good factor.
- Predictable British comedy (trousers falling down) but really enjoyable and so suitable for a miserable January afternoon.
